

FORT MILL HISTORY MUSEUM

SPONSORSHIP

OVERVIEW

The Fort Mill History Museum stands by its mission to preserve Fort Mill's heritage for the benefit of present and future generations. As well as promoting the collection, preservation, educational interpretation, and display of those artifacts, documents, and events most representative of Fort Mill history, its people and institutions, and its cultural and economic development. The museum educates the community by its physical location and artifacts as well as bringing in various speakers, holding educational presentations, walking tours, its History Trunk programs and more.

The museum is proud to volunteer faithfully in local schools presenting artifacts from Fort Mill's rich history to hundreds of students each year. Most of these volunteers are retired teachers, who build and align curriculum around the historical information and the social studies standards. Many homeschool groups also benefit from these programs. The museum partners with the Fort Mill School district and education organizations as we believe residents of all ages, especially the younger generation, need to know the historical importance and significance of Fort Mill's rich history.

VISION

Fort Mill History Museum to be recognized as the source in preserving, educating, and communicating Fort Mill's history, and the champion for engaging members, visitors, and the community to continue building on the rich heritage of Fort Mill.

FORT MILL'S STORY

As we looked back in time to events that helped make this community what it is today, we found it was not just historic events that brought us to the present day but a combination of events, people from all walks of life, special places, and childhood memories. The stories we hear that make up the fabric of our community are so interesting. They must be collected, preserved, and shared with all who are here today and those who will come this way tomorrow.

As the museum grows, the timeline will grow. Important dates and events that occurred throughout the history of this community will be added. Oral histories will also become a part of the timeline and throughout the museum.

The past definitely comes to life at the Fort Mill History Museum, and we invite you to become a part of it. Come join in our mission!
